THE LYCEUM COURSE.

THIS SEASON'S SERIES THE BEST YET GIVEN HERE.

LITERATURE, SCIENCE, AND ART.

Each Will Be Well Represented-Zangwill and O'Rell Among the Lecturers, Five of Whom Are Virginians-Miss Benfey to Read.

The Richmond Lyceum will present for the coming season a course of unusual attractiveness. The people of Richmond have never enjoyed in one season such a series of intellectual feasts as will be presented this fall and winter. The success of the lyceum has been phenomenal. It begins its third season on October 16th, and already its membership has almost reached the limit made necessary by the seating capacity of the Academy of Music, where the lectures are given. The seats will be assigned to the members about October 1st, and up to that time new members will be received to take the places of present members who fail to comply with the by-laws in the payment of their annual dues. Mr. J. L. Hill, the treasurer, No. 13 north Twelfth street, will, beginning with to-morrow, receive applications for membership up to the Senator John W. Daniel, F. Hopkinson Smith; Woodrow Wilson, Ph. D., of Princeton University; Rev. P. S. Henson, D. D., of Chicago, and Professor William P. Trent, of the University of the South. Two of the lecturers are from abroad— "Max O'Rell." from France, and Israel Zangwill, from England.

THE COMING OF ZANGWILL. Perhaps the greatest attraction of the season, Mr. Israel Zangwill, will open the course on Monday, October 16th. His subject will be "Fiction the Highest Form of Truth." He writes a personal letter, in which he selects this as his subject for

Richmond. Mr. Zangwill is best known The Premier and the Painter, The Bachelors' Club, The Old-Maids' Club, Children of the Ghetto, Merely Mary Ann, The Big Bow Mystery, Ghetto Tragedies, The Master, Without Preju-Dreamers of the Ghetto, and The King of Schnorrers. Mr. Zangwill does not come before an American audience form and after-dinner reputation as a wit is only second to his literary reputa-

On October 26th appears one of America's greatest platform orators, Dr. Robert McIntyre, of Chicago. His subject will be "Buttoned-Up People," a lecture which is celebrated all over the country for its lofty oratory and irresistible hu-

Mr. Jacob A. Riis, author of "How the Other Half Lives," "The Children of the Poor," &c., will appear November 6th. Mr. Riis will be remembered as the man who has done so much for the uplifting of the slums of New York, for whom he has spent his life. His magazine anticles on the subject are read with great in berest. "The Battle With the Sium" wil be his theme in Richmond, and he will use stereopticon illustrations, which will greatly add to the interest of his lecture. Governor Roosevelt has said of Mr. Riis that he is the most useful citizen of New York to-day.

SENATOR DANIEL TO LECTURE. The lyceum bureaus of the country have been vainly endeavoring to induce our senior senator to go on the lecture platform. The many requests for his appearance are received from both North and South, but he has steadfastly declined, although the pecuniary rewards would be very great. He has, however, consented to lecture before the Richmond Loceum on November 23d, on "The English-Speaking People." The Senat donate his part of the proceeds The Senator will ecture to the old veterans of Lee Camp

BUT ONE LADY APPEARS. Miss Ida Benfey is the only woman in the course. She is, perhaps, the most celebrated woman elecutionist in the world. Her reading en January 2d will be from George Eilot's "Mill on the Floss." Bishop Vincent says of her: "There can be no breath of adverse criticism of her readings. She feels what she reads; she is what she reads," Miss Benfey is a woman of rare beauty and attractiveness.

pleasure by our people. His reputation in this city will insure him a large audience. Dr. Wilson is also a Virginian by birth.

THE HUMOR OF O'RELL. THE HUMOR OF O'RIGH.

The distinctively humorous number of the course will be the lecture of "Max O'Reil" (M. Blouet), the famous French critic, on "Her Royal Highness—Woman." This celebrated lecture compares the French, English, and American women. The lecturer gives advice as to how to deal with mothers-in-law, and proves conclusively that few men are how to deal with mothers-in-law, and proves conclusively that few men are good enough for women. Mr. Blouet has often lectured in this country, where his famous book on "John Bull and His Islands" has been widely read.

Professor John B. DeMette, of Bryn Mawr, Pa., will deliver the scientific lecture of the course. He will appear on February 14th, and lecture on "The Harp of the Senses." While he is scientific in the highest sense of the word, there is no more universally popular lecturer on the platform. The reports from other lyceums in the country show that he has been considered as the best lecturer in many courses. No scientist has ever in many courses. No scientist has ever made his theme more popular.

DISTINGUISHED VIRGINIANS. Professor William P. Trent, of the University of the South, is a Richmond boy, and has many friends and acquaintances in this city. While yet a young man, he has made a national regutation as a writer and speaker on historical subjects. While many adverse criticisms have been passed upon the views taken by him in his books and articles, yet by him in his books and articles, yet he is universally recognized as a man of great power and genius. He will lecture March 12th on "Edgar Allan Poe." Rev. P. S. Henson, D. D., the celebrated Chicago preacher, will lecture March 22d on "Fools." Dr. Henson was born and educated in Virginia, and has many friends here. His ability and attractive-ness as a platform speaker are well es as a platform speaker are well

Women in the Great Wallace Shows. Women have in late years demonstrated their ability to do anything in strated their ability to do anything in a business way that a man can do, except, perhaps, do housework and cook. When it comes to cooking and minding the baby the new man is forging to the front in great shape. There are successful women lawyers, preachers, lecturers, musicians, acientists, doctors, engineers, politicians, writers, etc. In the Great Wallace Shows the woman proves her athletic equality with her proves her athletic equality with her old-time tyrant—man. In one ring there is to be seen Blanch Reed riding a principal act. In point of polse, grace, dash, and daring agility her riding simply deles all description. Nothing she does ooks difficult nor appears, indeed, to re quire effort. She is secure and as much at home in her unstable position on the heaving, bounding back of a galloping horse as is a society belle on a ball-room floor, while two ring mistresses handle the whips and walk around the centre-

In the Great Wallace Show there is not a line in acrobatic, gymnastic, or acrial business in which women do not appear, and in which they do not equal or excel their male companions. Her entrance into the commercial, political, artistic, and athletic fields is new to her, and she is interested and enthusiastic. She acts as a sort of a mental bracer on most people, because she revels in the love of her profession and the joy of living. The fact is conspicuous in the Wallace Show, which is to exhibit here on Tuesday, September 19th.

Miss Florence Dillard, the violinist, has resumed her class at No. 104 east Grace street, and would be glad to consult with any one desiring to study that instrument. Miss Dillard has been very successful in her work in Richmond, and a brilliant future is predicted for her as a musician. She combines concert playing with teaching, and is equally successful in those branches. She has had superior advantages in her study, having been a merely to be seen. He is a speaker and lecturer of great experience, and his plat-form and after-dinner reputation as a York. In Berlin she was a pupil of Hallr, of the Royal High School of Music, and her concert work was done under the direction of the great virtuoso Eugene Ysaye, of the Royal Conservators of the Roya wit is only second to his literary reputation. He is a prominent figure in London literary life. His rare magnetism and brilliant gifts as a talker have made him a great success on the platform. He has lectured all through Great Britain, Ireland, and Holland. A leading English critic says: "He is the most brilliant of English young men of letters—an author who bids fair to rank with the literary giants of the Victorian era."
